

<https://www.newspapers.com/image/1135655352/>

Then take out after Mr. Hitler if Mr. Roosevelt has his way.

* * *

YOU CERTAINLY saw where the War department decided to change the name of Camp Peay in Tennessee to Camp Forrest.

Colored "advisers" to the secretary of war ought to say "Good Evening" to the War people. Or maybe they didn't know this. Then, maybe, they never heard of Forrest or Fort Pillow.

But that might be asking too much. Only one colored American ever got out of office because of an insult to his people. When Woodrow Wilson started jim crowing colored government employees the late J. C. Napier bade him an immediate adieu.

But Napiers are few and far between.

* * *

Get down a good story of the Rebellion and read of the Massacre of Fort Pillow. "Remember Fort Pillow" became the great war cry the last year of the Rebellion.

Nathan Bedford Forrest, a slave trader, on April 12, 1864, led his thousands against a few hundred Union soldiers, mostly colored. A skirmish, or so, and then Forrest, under a flag of truce, went up to discuss terms.

His men hid themselves in ravines near the garrison. In a moment they stormed the garrison, and finding the Union men either unarmed or disarmed began the most brutal massacre of defenseless men in the long story of war.

Twenty years after the Rebellion had been put down Congress was investigating Fort Pillow.

Lee denounced it; Jefferson Davis was stunned; Gen. S. D. Lee disclaimed it and General Chalmers, opponent of John R. Lynch in a memorable race for Congress, took the floor to explain it to the country.

Now soldiers of Illinois, state of Lincoln, Grant and Logan, will get their mail, "Camp Forrest, Tenn." He Forrest shouted to his men, "Kill every nigger and every white man for fighting with them or for them."

The Forrest crowd is still in full cry.

phlet
door
the y WPA
rear
onlo
one
eater litica
to th es w migh
of t

IN ST
Col
guste
Bilbo
Distr
mayo
roy
length
for F
not j eral-
busy
sort missi
appo

Cap
John
Th
a bo
som
rests dign
with Slau
rang
ride
thei heat
catt
live
lead
slug
such hor
each
the